THE GLC NATIONAL ADR TRIATHLON

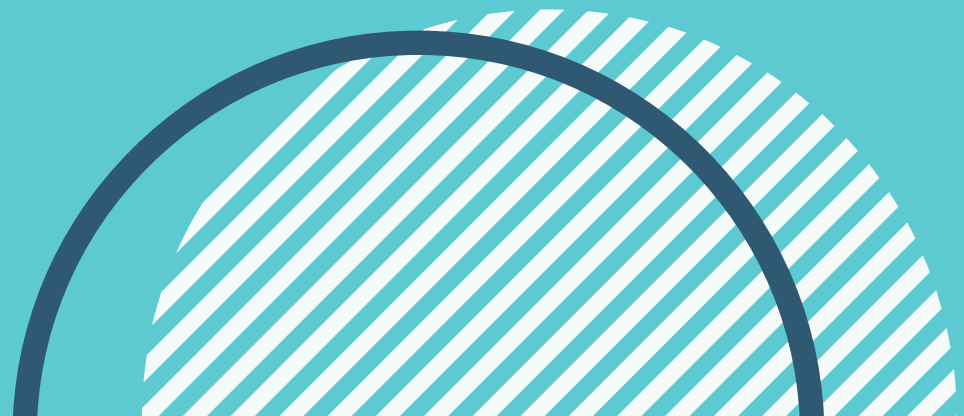

ABOUT THE ADRC

The Alternative Dispute Resolution Cell (ADRC) was founded in 2016 with a vision to promote the understanding of various forms of ADR and familiarizing the students with the intricacies of Alternative Dispute Resolution.

The ADRC strives to foster an ADR culture amongst the students, believing that the emergence of ADR will reduce the burden on the Indian Judiciary.

The Cell promotes the ADR culture amongst the students by organising various workshops and lectures conducted by experts; publishing a quarterly e-newsletter containing news, articles and interviews for students wishing to pursue their career in this field; and hosting the ADR Weekend - the Cell's annual two-day event which comprises of a series of Seminars and Workshops, aimed at not only informing but instilling a perspective, an attitude and aptitude for resolving disputes among the students.

ABOUT THE COMPETITION

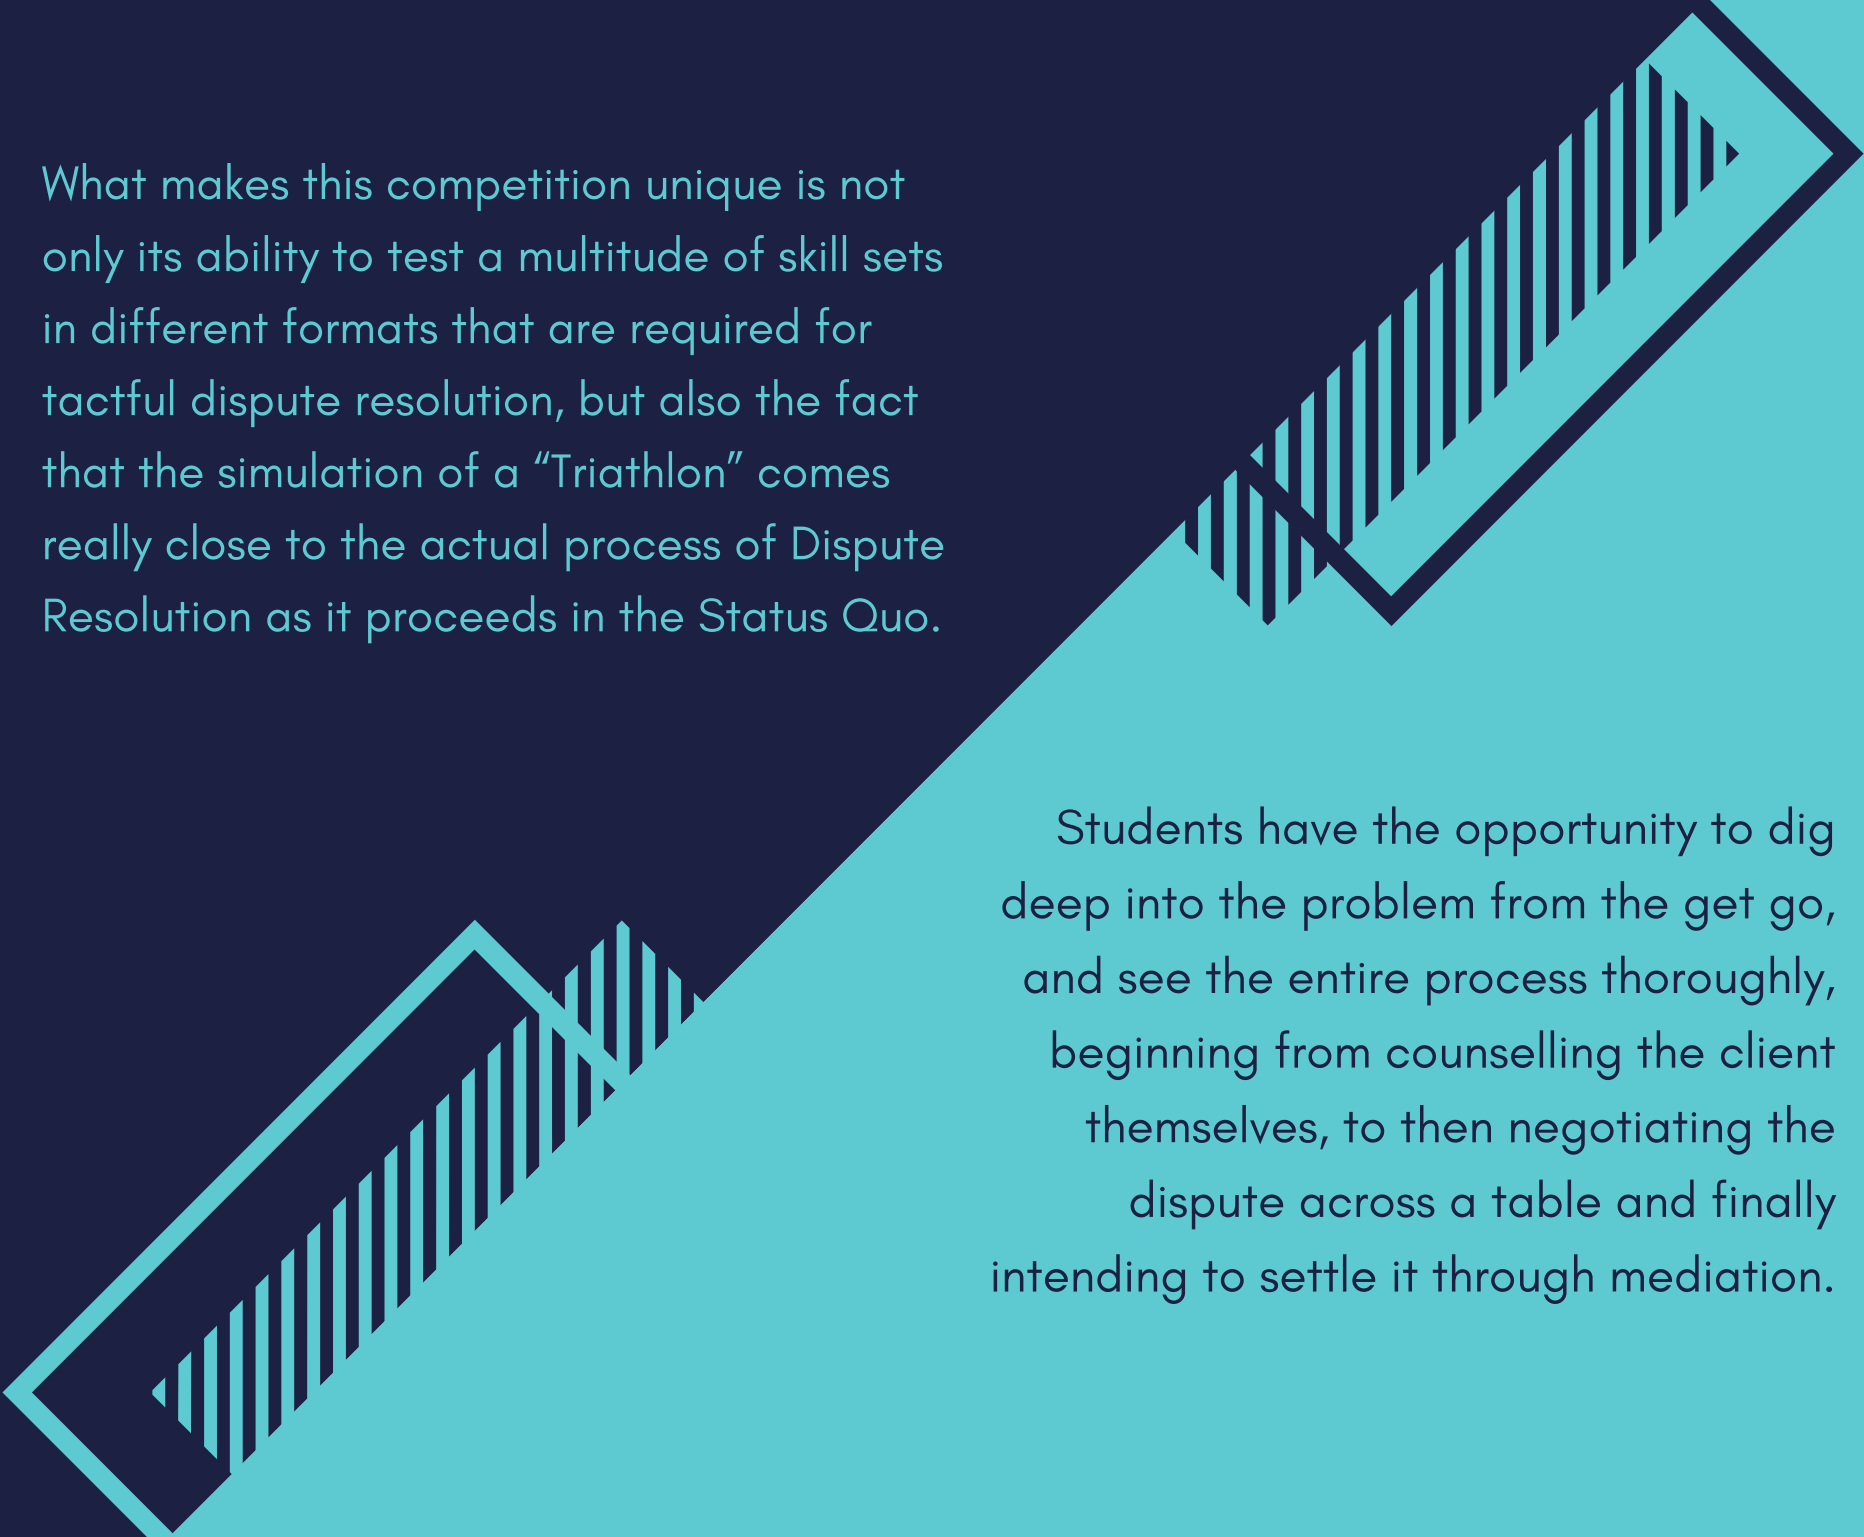

The GLC National ADR Triathlon is GLC's first and one of a kind ADR Competition. The ADRC, after hours of research and deliberation, conceptualized the format of an "ADR Triathlon", in which each team shall have 3 members, and each member shall be compulsorily participating in at least one of the rounds.

- The first round would be a Client Counselling Round, in which a pair of Counsels for each team shall be provided with an in-house client.
- The second round would consist of a Negotiation segment
- The third and last round would consist of a Mediation.
- All the three rounds would be scored cumulatively.

The quality of our lives depends not on whether or not we have conflicts, but on how we resolve them.

THOMAS CRUM

What makes this competition unique is not only its ability to test a multitude of skill sets in different formats that are required for tactful dispute resolution, but also the fact that the simulation of a “Triathlon” comes really close to the actual process of Dispute Resolution as it proceeds in the Status Quo.

Students have the opportunity to dig deep into the problem from the get go, and see the entire process thoroughly, beginning from counselling the client themselves, to then negotiating the dispute across a table and finally intending to settle it through mediation.
