"I came across the criminal law course offered by LegumVox through a friend. Now, since I am a first year student I not studied criminal law in my college. I saw this course as an opportunity to explore criminal law, to learn virtually what I have been wanting to learn. I must admit this course has been an absolute delight with Shantanu sir, the faculty, being as interactive and informative as one can get. I understand that due to the current situation of widespread pandemic, learning can take a backseat but i would 10/10 recommend this course to anyone who is even slightly interested in criminal law. This course will not make you regret taking it up! I thank LegumVox for this great initiative of making learning accessible and it was great to have been able to learn!"

"The whole journey was quite awesome. I like the way you teach and the most important interactive environment that you created while whole lectures. Because of this I never feel bored and I always feel free to clear any doubts. Your way of teaching is not confined only to the sections and the act that is mentioned in books. I observe you always use co-relate facts and circumstances with the practical aspects which gives us more understanding and it also paves the path for exploring more and more in that particular area. So thanks a lot for giving us such a wonderful experience of learning."
